

Flowing drowsily, beneath the winter Leaves, into sudden life with spring-time's sunshine glow, Limpid, laughing, gleefully through the summer days—
What has autumn brought to you, O River of Waters?

This is what has come to me: black discontent and sorrow—In the stillness of a night, crisp cold, it came, a gleam of light Ah, the dream of what the light When the searching day revealed all my grief and shame!

Like a boy, from out the blue, not a word of warning, Just a dash of a shot, a cry—then the ends of the world Seemed to spring up, gentle-like, furrowed, and out
And the sombre, stable night doth a death-weep keep.

On my bosom where the stars twinkle, Oh, so brightly,
Sluggish crimson stains have spread, murderous and deep;
Here and there a mirror still face
And the sombre, stable night doth a
death-weep keep.

I who flung each tree and flower frolicsome, and bright, Sparkling at the frost-laden leaves, scarlet overhead, Shake and shiver now from my spray-brilliant tresses
And the sombre, stable night doth a
death-weep keep.

Breathlessly I listen on I who loved to linger, Wherever, oh, wherever, Far away I go,
From this spot where death still points its finger,
To forget, and lose myself in the night,
—Beatrice Barre, in the New York Times.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Reggie?"
"He got on my nerves, always asking permission to kiss me."—Dallas News.

Wise Father—Remember, my son, that there are many things which you cannot buy with money.
Sophisticated Son—Yes, I know; but the stores don't keep them—Judge.

Our new neighbors seem pretty weak in the use of grammar, don't you think?
"Yes, indeed," said the son, "they seem to be."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"I have seemed surprised that I have asked you to marry me." She—Yes; I've been proceeding all along on the theory that you hadn't the courage to do such a thing.— Boston Transcript.

The Mistress—I shall take one of the children to church with me this morning, Mary.
The General—Yes; which?
The Mistress—Oh, whichever will bring with him new mauve dress—London Sketch.

"I just saw my congressman. It is the first time he has refused me a Jesse, and he doesn't promise me anything."
"I am surprised!"
"He will not be a candidate again!"
—Paris Liberator.

"Why" asked the weary-looking woman, "do you constantly refer to yourself as the goat of this household?"
"Because," replied the irritable man in a loud tone of voice, "a goat is supposed to be a stupid animal, and that is what I am as far as this household is concerned."
—Washington Star.

The First Monaca Parliament.
For centuries Monaco had maintained its independence and never troubled about a Parliament, but as soon as the news reached the prince that an agitation had begun for representative government he promulgated a constitution at once. And out of a population of 20,000 there were only 500 qualified as citizens to vote.
The remaining 15,000 were composed of aliens either in business or temporarily residing in the principality. But these 500 managed to get quite enthusiastic about the new Parliament, and when their work to their first politics had divided up into at least four parties—the Real Monaca, the Patriotic, the Moderate, the Nationalists of Monaco. The last named came out on top, and formed Monaco's first representative Government.—Fall

DAVIS THEATRE.

The Million Dollar Mystery and Three Excellent Vaudeville Acts Today.

The show which closes a three days' represent at this city theatre today is one of the best all round bills ever presented here this season. In the headline position Henry and Allen fill the bill nicely in a novel comedy singing and talking act called The Cabby and His Fare. This is a big time act and everything that is original and up to date, and they have no trouble in keeping the house in roars all the time they are on stage. Musical Keystone has a unique novel musical specialty, playing several instruments in a manner that makes him popular every time he appears. Special settings and novel lighting effects set the act off to advantage. The other act is a comedy duo called The Two Kings.
Collins and Johnson, a clever team of comedy entertainers who do some good singing with clean comedy that gets them the applause. In the photoplay position is the feature, and this dear old river, full of thrilling situations from start to finish. There will be only three more episodes shown after this one, then the prize solution will be shown as soon as the judges decide which is the best answer to the mystery. Send in your solution now to win the $10,000 cash prize. The Than-house company is offering for the solution of this great picture mystery.
The remainder of the bill is the Mutual War Weekly, showing pictures from the seat of war, and their Up and Downs, a funny Keystone comedy with Paddy. For the last half of the week another high class act is booked, and a special two-reel Keystone comedy called Dough and Dynamite with Charles Chaplin will be shown. This is the funniest picture ever seen in Norwich. Don't miss it. Matinee today at 2:30; 5 and 10 cents.
